19 Artists, of the project

Quantum Art and Science for a New Renaissance exhibiting at:

22 to 28 April 2016
at The Central House of Artists, Moscow

The space "The Central House of Artists" is the largest exhibition center in Russia. The palace was opened to the public in 1979 and its importance has been established by now of its historicity and continuous popularity among collectors and art lovers. The multifunctional exhibition center has about 10 000 square meters entirely dedicated to the organization of the projects in the cultural.

The horizontal volume of the building is raised on columns and facing the park and the river. The colonnade, visible enfilade, lobby, mezzanine, exhibition halls and courtyards depicting in its extent a continuation of the open areas surrounding building.

The proportions of the facade repeat the proportions of the Ducal Palace in Venice. This similarity was many times emphasized by art critics, such as the traditional link between the Muscovite architecture and Italian classic.
